

DEMAND REMOVAL
OF EXECUTORSHeirs of the Late A. H. Raleigh Make Serious Charges Against William
Asper and Alfred Solomon.

James A. Raleigh and twelve others of the heirs of A. H. Raleigh, deceased, filed a petition in the District court yesterday alleging that William Asper and Alfred Solomon, as executors of the will of the deceased, have failed and neglected to perform the duties of their trust faithfully and asking for their removal by the court. The petition sets out that Alonzo H. Raleigh died in this city on May 13, 1891, leaving an estate in real and personal property of the probable value of $40,000. In the will, which has been admitted to probate, William Asper, Alfred Solomon and August W. Carlson were named as executors. Carlson declined to act and letters testamentary were issued to Asper and Solomon in December, 1901.

The petition sets out that the executors have failed and neglected to take care of or to promote the interests of all or any of the petitioners, that they have sold, under orders of the court, certain of the personal and real property of the estate at prices largely disproportionate to the value of the property, to the damage of the estate and heirs in the sum of $10,000. It is alleged that they are now attempting to make other sales at prices disproportionate to the value of the property, and that at least on two different occasions the petitioners have been compelled to retain legal services in protesting against proposed sales. Several instances of alleged losses to the estate are cited. It is contended that there is no longer any need of continuing in office the executors, and the paying of expensive attorneys' fees.

The petitioners pray that the executors be cited to appear and show cause why they should not be removed, and that upon their removal the Utah Savings and Trust company be appointed special administrator of the estate.

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS
IN BIG MINING CASE

In the trespass action brought by the Bullion-Beck and Champion Mining company against the Eureka Hill Mining company, appellant, to recover for ores alleged to have been unlawfully extracted by the defendant from the plaintiff's mine, the Supreme court handed down an opinion yesterday affirming the judgment of the trial court, in the lower court the plaintiff was given judgment for $105,953.77. The defendants then moved for a new trial and the court ordered that, unless the plaintiff should within ten days pay the sum of $25,228.85 of the judgment, the motion of the defendant should be granted. The plaintiff made the remittance within the specified time and the defendant appealed from the judgment thus rendered.

The Supreme court holds that for all the ore extracted by the defendant from the plaintiff's mine, under Sec. 1536 of the Revised Statutes, entitled to treble damages, and the judgment of the trial court is affirmed, with costs.

This case has been watched in the mining world with considerable interest and was here fought by both parties, the best legal talent in the State being retained on both sides. The plaintiff was represented by Dixon, Ellis & Ellis and the action was defended by the firm of Sutcliffe, Van Cott & Allison. The opinion is written by Chief Justice Baskin and concurred in by his associates.

WHAT WILL BE DONE WITH MRS. BRADLEY?

It remains to be seen tomorrow morning what disposition the court will make of the case of adultery against Mrs. Anna M. Bradley. It was alleged that Mrs. Bradley and former Senator Arthur Brown had had criminal relations and both were bound over to the District court on the charge of adultery. When Mrs. Bradley was brought up to the court yesterday, she came up as she entered a plea of guilty to the information against her. Brown made a desperate fight to prevent having to go to trial and the court postponed from time to time the passing of sentence upon Mrs. Bradley until both cases had been disposed of. Brown was finally tried and the jury voted him a certificate of virtue by acquitting him. Mrs. Bradley is to appear at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning for sentence. For the purpose of looking after the defendant's interests Judge Morse yesterday appointed A. E. Wedgewood as her attorney.

Court Notes.

The law and motion calendar will be called in the District and Circuit Federal court Monday.

Edward J. Mullen, one of the convicts who participated in the jail delivery at the State prison last October, pleaded guilty to the information charging him with escaping from the penitentiary in the District court yesterday, and the court set Saturday, April 9th, as the time for passing sentence.

PURCHASERS LOSE THEIR SMUGGLED FURS

Special to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Furs bought from Desjardins & Co., of Montreal, have been seized for non-payment of duties. It is officially stated that the American purchasers bought the furs with the understanding that they would be delivered with the duty paid.

Instead of paying the duties the firm had the furs smuggled into this country by an express messenger running between Quebec and Tupper Lake, N. Y. The messenger was arrested, pleaded guilty and paid a $1000 fine.

Then the special agents traced the furs and seized them. Nothing else could be done, even though it was clear that the purchasers had been victimized. Many of the purchasers gave up their furs rather than pay the amount required. Those furs will be sold at auction for the Treasury.

The Government cannot proceed against Desjardins & Co., but it has advised the victimized purchasers to sue to recover.

She Plays Valet to Lapdogs.

There is a young woman in this city who makes a good living by acting as a visiting valet to lapdogs owned by rich women. The girl bathes and combs and dresses the dogs and in some few instances even takes the pampered pets out for airings on the avenue.

Another young woman has built up for herself a profitable business in the polishing and cleaning in order of the silver on a lady's toilet table. She makes it her specialty and has obtained for herself quite a number of fashionable customers. Her fee is $1 a week, and she does the cleaning and polishing without taking the silver away from the owner's home.—New York Press.

Candles Still in Steady Demand.

"In spite of the constant improvements in electric lighting we have a steady demand for candles from fashionable women who give home dinner parties," said a Murray street manufacturer of candles, who, from force of circumstances, have to pay more attention to their beauty and graceful appearance than they do to anything else. The electric light, though it is the future of the candle, is not yet so generally adopted as to displace it. The candle is still the favorite for private homes, and the old-fashioned candles, and the oil smelted disagreeably. That fact did not stop the candle manufacturer, who said that candles are not out of business yet, by a long shot.—New York Press.
